

Danamona Andrianarimanana

Research Data Manager

California Department of Finance

Danamona joined the department of Finance in 2018 and she currently is the Research Data Manager for the Economic Research Unit within the Forecasting Unit. Her major topical areas of expertise and interest include macroeconomics, labor and health economics, and the intersection of natural resources use, development, and climate change. She has been a consultant at the World Bank working on evaluating randomized controlled trials and poverty programs in Sub-Saharan Africa, disaster insurance programs in Mexico, and natural disaster impacts in Madagascar. She is a graduate of Harvard University, with a bachelor's degree in Economics. She also holds a PhD in Agricultural and Resources Economics from UC Berkeley. Danamona is originally from Madagascar.